What do we mean by a unit?

A unit is each area of study within a subject area. For example:

a) There are 4 units within Number and Measurement in this KS2 maths subject overview:

Maths theme	Number and Measurement
Maths	Place Value	Addition and Subtraction	Multiplication and Division	Length, Area and Perimeter

b) For example, if there are 2 units within KS3 R.E. subject overview....

Autumn 1	Autumn 2
Identity, Diversity and Belonging World Tour of Religion – Baseline	Meaning, Purpose and Truth Is God real? Buddhism

Considerations when plotting out a unit:

What do students need to know first in order to access this unit?

What knowledge will I explicitly teach them?

What skills will they develop?

What opportunities will they have to apply these?

How will I check that they have secured what I want them to?

Curriculum overview (Leaders will put this together once all Subject Overviews have been completed)

A curriculum overview outlines the way that content is sequenced across all areas of the curriculum at an academy or within a key stage. This should be a concise document that provides an overview of the organisation of topics/units, per the subject programme of study.

The following templates should be used to ensure sequencing of learning is clear and concise.

Medium Term Planning

Sometimes known as a scheme of work, this planning outlines the sequence and mechanism of delivery for a 'unit' of work. It provides a structure to work from and should be adapted by individual teachers to match the cohort (e.g. pace, addressing gaps, SEND, interests etc.)

Example:

Year:	10/11	Links with wider curriculum:			Macro Assessment:
Term:	Autumn	Careers: Ideas about fairness in the workplace - Ideas about changing job/career - Ideas about the importance of references Rights/morals: Discussion about rights to fair treatment by employers - Discussion about basic human rights Maths: Currency conversion 1912 – 21 st Century			Edexcel IGCSE Lit – Coursework 1 AQA GCSE Eng Lit – exam essay task
